

Leading the Path in Functional Food Innovation

Supporting the innovation and development of food and supplement through clinical study and nutrition-related research activities along with Japanese nutraceutical and functional food regulatory compliance since 2005

Our Services

Clinical Trial

Regulatory Assistance

Participant Recruitment

Market Research

Study Group Organization

Outcome Development

International R&D Support

Our website

Follow us
On LinkedIn

International R&D Support Service

Connect with the world!

We are the leading Japanese food and nutrition Contract Research Organization (CRO). In ORTHOMEDICO, we provide supportive services to help local enterprises explore overseas markets in the area of food and nutrition, as well as solution services for overseas enterprises to acquire scientific evidence in Japan and use it for functional food notification.

Support to overseas enterprise

- 1.Acquisition of scientific evidence of Asian population
- 2.Regulatory support and consultation (including notification as food with function claim)
- 3.Organization of study groups and seminars to promote clients' products / ideas.
- 4.Expansion of business to the Japanese market

Support to local enterprise

- 1.Acquisition of scientific evidence of overseas non-Asian population
- 2.Expansion of business to overseas market

Market research

Review of scientific evidence

Clinical trial conduction

Article publication

Regulatory affairs

Sales and marketing

Strategies for entering a new health food market

Going beyond clinical trials.

- By leveraging our extensive global transaction experience, connections with overseas food CROs, and multilingual capabilities, we provide total support for international joint research and development projects.
- Currently, we have been expanding our connection with the world. As a food CRO, we have conducted a wide range of clinical trials for clients from all over the world and planned and organized many collaborative projects with overseas companies, including academic article publications and international symposiums.
- We also support the expansion of business using clinical evidence obtained in Japan. From inquiries about overseas regulations and the latest trends in the industry to gathering experts to help our clients devise strategies to develop methods for global business expansion of their products, we are just a message away!

All with the aim to obtain credible data and maximize our clients' investment!

ORTHOMEDICO Inc.

TEL: +81-3-3818-0610

Mail: info@orthomedico.tokyo